

The Coachcap Catch Up

On the road to workwear

AS ONE of our first corporate customers, the Buslines Group has had a long and prosperous history with Coachcap.

Group Operations Manager Geoff Ferris says he keeps coming back for the personal service and speedy delivery time that Coachcap offers.

"We are not an easy customer because we have seven locations throughout Australia that need a standard product," he said.

"Coachcap offer us a good service with a good range and our staff are very happy with the quality."

Coachcap provides the state wide bus corporation with work wear including their epaulettes, knitted jumpers and vests, overalls, and permanent press shorts and trousers.

As one of Australia's largest bus companies that services an area from the Northern Rivers to the Southern Highlands, it is important that all drivers are fitted with the correct uniform as quickly as possible.

To make this process of ordering and delivery fast, Coachcap holds all stock for the company.

Transportation Titans: Some of the ladies and gents from Berrima Buslines taking a break from their busy schedule. The Buslines Group have depots in Berrima, Dubbo, Griffith, the Northern Rivers, Orange, Picton and Tamworth.

It is here that Geoff says Coachcap is able to meet the demands of the Buslines Group who have depots all across the state.

"We don't want to hold stock and Coachcap is able to meet our supply on demand requests," he said.

"We have a mixed size range and several small order quantities, so having Coachcap hold our stock just makes the entire process easier."
